Project stuttering in preschool age children

Over the last few years at Thomas More, we worked on an information package about stuttering in preschoolers. One of the TreatPaCS speech language therapists, Rachel, also contributed to this process. Would you like to share more information about stuttering with doctors, schools or parents? Refer them to this website. An evidence-based information package, poster, flyer and video are available here.

Update FAQ

The FAQ got another update. Speech language therapists can access the new version on the website.

Quote

We would like to share this quote with you from one of our enthusiastic and motivated speech language therapists.

"The reason I want to contribute to research is mainly to learn more and get more tools for treating preschoolers."
