Article for general practitioners

When should a preschooler who stutters be referred to a stutter therapist? We recently published an article about this in Huisarts Nu, a magazine for general practitioners. This article is in Dutch. A French version is expected in November in the journal of ONE (Office de la naissance et de l'enfance).

Would you like to read the article or share it with others?

You can find it here:

Thanks Mathias

Since Mathias is taking up a new challenge, he will no longer be involved as field monitor within TreatPaCS. On behalf of the entire team, we would like to thank him immensely for all the work and commitment within this project. Good luck with the further career!

Thank you for your interest in the TreatPaCS study!
